Let's Check In On Nicole Richie's Purple Hair Color ('Cause It's Fantastic)

It appears that Nicole Richie is staying on Team: Lavender in the hair color department, and, frankly, it's a pretty solid decision. Because this girl can fully rock some purple hair.

Yesterday she stepped out at the 2014 AOL NewFronts with her hair more vibrant than ever.

Looks like she just got a refresher of her original color, which was done by the PRAVANA guest artist at the Andy Lecompte Salon Danny Moon using PRAVANA ChromaSilk VIVIDS Violet and PASTELS Mystical Mint. It all started with a joke of sorts—she posted a photo of her hair photoshopped purple on her Instagram account, and basically the world went wild with how good she looked in the hue. So she took the plunge and went purple in early March.

We're coming up on two months of Purple Richie 2014, and I'm thinking this color might stick around a little longer. Would you be psyched? Or do you think this whole purple-hair thing is silly?
